Admission to the Landfall Institute of Graphic Arts

To be eligible for admission to the Landfall Institute of Graphic Arts, candidates must have a bachelor's degree or the equivalent. Graduates of the Kansas City Art Institute are eligible to apply, as are artists from throughout the United States and around the world who meet the eligibility requirement of a bachelor's degree or the equivalent. Acceptance into the program is at the sole discretion of Landfall Press.

To apply for an apprenticeship, candidates must provide the Landfall Institute with:

- A completed application form, providing contact information
- Proof of a bachelor's degree or the equivalent
- Three written recommendations from practicing artists within the field
- A digital portfolio of current work

- A statement of accomplishments and interest in the program
- A resume or curriculum vitae

A personal interview with Landfall staff is also required, accompanied by a selection of original works. Skype interviews may be accepted, but telephone or written applications, by themselves, will not be sufficient for acceptance to an apprenticeship.

To submit an application, send materials to:

Tuition and other expenses

The cost for a three-month apprenticeship is $3,000 payable to the Kansas City Art Institute. Estimated costs for room and board are $1,500 per month, and participants are expected to provide for their own accommodations as well as travel to and from Santa Fe. If a participant is called to active military duty during an apprenticeship or required to withdraw for health reasons, the participant may request a refund in writing to Landfall Press with appropriate documentation.

If approved, the refund will be made on a pro-rata basis.

Candidates will pay the cost for the three-month apprenticeship in two installments: $1,500 initially and $1,500 by the end of the fifth week. At the conclusion of the session, Landfall staff will conduct a review to determine the viability of an apprentice's continuation in a program for advanced studies. If the applicant is accepted for a second section, an additional $3,000 cost will be incurred.
